Four Prisoners Dead As Prison Riot Ends

30 Convicts, 3 Guards Are Injured

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—The most disastrous riot in its history was brought under control Thursday at the fire blackened Missouri State Penitentiary.

Four prisoners were killed and 30 other prisoners and three guards were injured in a savage 15-hour revolt led by a small group of incorrigible prisoners.

Seven prison buildings were destroyed and three others damaged as the cursing, shouting convicts set out on a path of destruction.

Preliminary estimates of the damage by prison officials ranged from three to five million dollars.

Prompt mobilization of nearly 11,000 state highway troopers, policemen from neighboring cities and Missouri National Guardsmen was credited with breaking the back of the riot and preventing a wholesale break by many of the 3,285 inmates.

Only about 300 prisoners were actually involved in the abortive break for freedom.

Convicts gave many reasons for the abrupt uprising, but a guard said he believed it stemmed from dissatisfaction with green watermelon served at supper Wednesday night. Other convicts said the cause was poor food generally.

Whatever the reason, the trouble began about 6 p.m. in the maximum security hall. Within a matter of minutes 81 convicts seized four guards and the disturbance flared into the prison yard.

The convicts were driven back by gunfire from advancing highway patrol troopers, who just three months ago had been alerted to possible mobilization for just such an emergency.

But it wasn't until Thursday morning—15 hours later—that the last of the sullen, embittered convict rioters were back in their cells.

Between the beginning and the end of the outbreak, prisoners set fire to buildings, wrecked cells, windows and furniture and flooded cell blocks.

But despite the ugly mood of the prisoners, the four guards taken hostage were released or escaped alive. One made his escape when friendly convicts supplied him with an inmate's cap and shirt and escorted him to the main entrance.

Douglas Tells I.U. Students Of Whys, Whats Of Probes

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Introduced as "a college professor who made good," Sen. Paul H. Douglas Thursday gave 500 University of Illinois students a 50-minute lecture on the whys and whats of congressional investigations.

The Illinois Democrat—once an assistant professor of economics at the university—didn't introduce any political figures in explaining the vagaries of such investigations. But he did offer his plan to eliminate what he called "some current abuses in the way congressional investigations are conducted."

The four big things that must be done, Douglas asserted, are that a witness be warned in advance; that he be allowed to have counsel; that cross-examination be limited and that the witness gets the right to make a speedy reply.

Douglas, on a campaign swing throughout the state seeking re-election, referred—in a professorial way—to ancient Greece "where internal pressures led to the gradual discard of the rules of fairness, sennegones took over and truth-seeker Socrates was put to death."

"Today we must protect our selves against communism and at the same time see that we do not stamp out freedom from within," he commented upon congressional investigations, Douglas said they "can take something away from a man that is even more important than his life or his property—his reputation."

His discourse was delivered at the university YMCA, since school rules prohibit use of school buildings for person engaged in political campaigns.

Dulles Asks Creation Of International Body For Peaceful Atom Use

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles Thursday called for the creation by next year at least of an international agency for the peaceful use of atomic energy despite the refusal of Russia to cooperate.

In new and daring moves, Dulles also proposed to an intently listening U.N. Assembly that the U.N. convene next spring an international scientific conference to consider the whole vast subject.

In his important policy speech to the Assembly and in a letter formally stating the United States is raising this atomic issue as a new item in the U.N. and in concert with those nations desiring to take part in the broad program. He indicated, however, the U.N. will be kept informed of developments.

He also made it clear that the Russians were welcome to come along if they wished but that at any rate the United States will not accept the familiar Russian "myet" as a final block to the program first enunciated by President Eisenhower to the U.N. Assembly last Dec. 8.

Dulles disclosed that the Russians only Wednesday, having heard he would deal with this subject in his talk Thursday, had offered to resume conversations on the pool for peaceful uses of the atom. But, he said, they showed no sign of receding from the opposition expressed months ago.

Dulles' plan for creation of the agency and for the conference were two points of a four-point plan put before the Assembly. He also suggested the opening next year, in the United States, of a reactor training school were students from abroad may learn the working principles of atomic energy with specific regard to its peaceful uses.

Lastly, he suggested inviting a substantial number of medical and surgical experts from abroad to participate in the work of American cancer hospitals in which he said atomic energy techniques are among the most hopeful approaches to controlling the cancer menace.

Dulles recounted his talks with the Russians leading to their rejection of the President's plan and said: "The United States remains ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union. But we shall no longer suspend our efforts to establish an international atomic agency."

Convict's Throat Cut, Tongue Torn Out In Reprisal

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Underworld vengeance caught up with convict Lee Donnell whose throat was slashed and his tongue cut out by a fellow prisoner in the Missouri penitentiary riot.

The 29-year-old Donnell turned state witness at St. Louis in 1953. He testified before a Circuit Court grand jury there which indicted him and four others for a hold-up. He had been fearful of his life since.

In city jail at St. Louis before he was sent to the state prison he was stabbed last March by a fellow prisoner. He begged authorities not to send him to the state prison because he was afraid of reprisal.

Circuit Atty. Edward L. Down of St. Louis said Thursday that Donnell's plea, Donnell's parole on a six-year prison sentence had been revoked before he was given another five-year term on a robbery charge.

Down said he had warned Missouri prison officials of Donnell's fear of reprisal and at the penitentiary Donnell was put in death row for his own safety.

But in their fury to settle grudges, some of the rioters went straight to the secluded section for condemned prisoners. They smashed their way through locked cell doors with sledge hammers and pieces of metal to reach their victims.

When quiet was restored prison officials found Donnell dead, his throat slashed and his tongue cut out.

U.S. CONSULATE IN HANOI TO STAY OPEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department said Thursday the U.S. consulate will remain open in Hanoi indefinitely after the Communists take over Oct. 10 under the Indo-China trade agreement.

Department press officer Henry Strydom told his news conference the consulate is accredited to the state of Viet Nam. The Viet Nam government is still the government in charge of the country, he emphasized.

Strydom said he made the statement in response to inquiries about installation of bars on the consulate's windows and sinking of fuel tanks on the consulate grounds. These were taken as indications of intention to stay.

Under the Indo-China trade agreement at the Far East peace conference in Geneva, the Communist Vietnamese will take over Hanoi Oct. 10.

Eisenhower, Nixon Praises Record Of Congress

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Thursday night the Eisenhower administration is destroying the Communist conspiracy in this country and predicted the GOP will retain control of Congress.

Concluding an eight-state campaign tour, Nixon declared the administration "has finally put the Reds on the run in America" and said Democrats and Independents who supported Eisenhower in 1952 will vote Republican again this year.

The vice president, in a speech prepared for a state-wide Republican rally at Butler University fieldhouse, accused the "noisy Left wing of the Truman administration" of opposing legal weapons needed to combat "the Communist fifth column which made a shambles of our domestic security."

Nixon credited the Eisenhower administration and the 83rd Congress with a "magnificent three-year record" of strengthening internal security — by vigorous enforcement of existing laws, new laws giving the Justice Department "more effective legal weapons" against Reds, and driving Communists from government jobs through the security risk program.

Nixon said his main effort on his trip through eight normally Republican Midwest states has been directed at healing intraparty differences and getting rid of off-year election apathy.

"I have been greatly encouraged by what I have seen," he added. Asked about the party's factional troubles in Indiana, he said his information was that the split was virtually healed "and I think the gathering tonight will prove it."

Nixon described Republican factional differences as "infinitesimal" compared to "the great basic cleavage between the ADA-Stevenson wing of the Democratic party and the conservative Southern wing." (ADA is Americans for Democratic Action, an organization designed to uphold the policies of the New Deal and the "Fair Deal.")

Nixon chided Adlai E. Stevenson, 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, for "criticizing the Eisenhower administration and not saying what a Democratic administration or Congress would do differently."

"I've been talking issues, and I wish Mr. Stevenson would do the same," Nixon said. In answer to a question, he said the Senate would be able to get a quorum if it were called back to vote on censuring Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) despite the fact many senators are on tours.

As presiding officer of the Senate, Nixon said, he preferred not to comment further on the McCarthy situation.

RUSSIA BLASTS IRAN LONDON (AP)—Russia has accused Iran — which recently announced discovery of a Communist spy ring in its armed forces — of starting a "hostile campaign in relation to the U.S.S.R."

Moscow radio said Thursday night that Soviet Ambassador A. I. Lavrentyev delivered a note to the Iranian government protesting a campaign designed, he said, to "deal a blow to Soviet-Iranian good neighborly relations for the benefit of third countries."

THE ENDLESS moving in the cities has prompted an unidentified poet in the Housing and Home Finance Agency to call it this "restless movement of the people in and around population centers."

The NAREB has no restlessness gauge to apply to various cities, but it did have a look at a couple and can now verify what many suspected already.

That the citizens of Los Angeles are more flighty than those of Baltimore. Los Angeles electric companies report that a third of their customers have their lights cut off each year. The Post Office Department doesn't go quite that far, but it figures 27 per cent want their addresses changed.

By contrast, Baltimore gets by with a moving figure of 18 per cent.

OR DOES WILSON DISLIKE POST-MORTEMES? WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson says he doesn't like to talk too much about past troubles—"It's somewhat like trying to make birth control retroactive."

Wilson gave that quip during a news conference questioning about his visit Tuesday to try to break a bottleneck in production of the F6F jet fighter-bomber at Farmingdale, Long Island, N.Y.

Wilson said he talked about war production instead of rehashing past problems.

Dr. Shigenobu Kuriyama, vice director of Tokyo National Hospital, said flatly "radiation sickness was the cause of death."

U.S. doctors have said Kuboyama and other fishermen from the Lucky Dragon, accidentally dusted by an H-bomb blast off Bikini March 1, could be suffering from jaundice resulting from blood transfusions. Japanese doctors challenged this view and refused to allow the Americans to make thorough examinations of the victims.

Newspapers, which have made much of the Lucky Dragon case, did not publish Thursday, a holiday, but their reaction also is expected to be sharp.

Kuboyama's death lowered the spirits of the other 22 members of the Lucky Dragon crew still undergoing treatment in Tokyo hospitals.

In Washington, a spokesman for the Japanese Embassy said Kuboyama's death would bring a highly emotional and sharp reaction from the Japanese.

The death unleashed another great wave of bitterness in Japan toward the United States. Radios and television stations carried a heavy flow of news on the death and many commentators blamed the United States.

U.S. Ambassador John M. Allison issued a statement saying: "I speak on behalf of the government and the people of the United States in expressing extreme sorrow and regret at this most unhappy event."

Nixon Call For Election Of GOP Congress

LOS ANGELES (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday night sounded a fighting call for election of another Republican Congress and declared loss to the Democrats would tend toward "endless political maneuvering, stagnation and inaction."

Slugging hard for the first time in the congressional campaign, the President told a political rally in Hollywood Bowl that recapture of the legislative branch by the opposition party would lead to "a field day" in Washington politics.

The chief executive voiced confidence the Republicans will maintain control of Congress in the November elections because, as he put it, "we have delivered" on the promises he made to the people in the 1952 campaign.

In his prepared text, Eisenhower reviewed the first 20 months of his administration and cited reasons—"the compelling reasons"—why completion of this program requires the election of a Republican-led Congress.

Among other things, he declared, "We at last deal effectively with the Communist conspiracy in the United States"—and, taking a swipe at the Truman administration, he added that the Eisenhower administration "does not look upon the Communist menace as a red herring."

For what he termed effective control of that menace the President gave the GOP-run 83rd Congress much of the credit.

Eisenhower also declared that since he took office there is "clean government" in Washington, that taxes have been reduced $7,400,000,000—"the biggest cut in the history of the United States," that federal spending has been slashed by more than 11 billion dollars, and that the nation now has a prosperous economy that isn't based either on war or "the froth of inflation."

In another poke at the Democrats and the tax scandals of the Truman administration days, Eisenhower said, "The tax laws have been applied without political favoritism and without corruption."

In the foreign affairs field, the President had this to say: "We have brought realism where there was wishful thinking. We have brought frankness, candor and force to foreign policy which at last insists on distinguishing words from deeds in the conduct of the affairs of the world."

And on national defense the President declared: "... Today, at a cost of billions less, we have an armed strength far more efficient and better organized than ever before—a defense stronger and readier in peacetime than it has ever been."

Eisenhower flew to Los Angeles from the Pacific Northwest on the third leg on a three-day aerial campaign tour of Montana, Washington, Oregon and California.

Thursday morning he dedicated 286-million-dollar McNary Dam on the Washington-Oregon border and told an applauding audience — estimated by police at between 35,000 and 40,000 persons — that any trend toward Washington "conversion of local regions into federal satellites poses a threat deadly to our liberties."

China's Coastal Fight Steps Up TAIPEH, Formosa, Friday (AP)—The "Little War" along Red China's southeast coast roared into its 21st day Thursday with more Nationalist air blows and heavy artillery duels.

A Defense Ministry communiqué said Nationalist warplanes damaged four Red gunboats of about 200 tons each and left a 1,000-ton landing craft ablaze and listing in a raid on Folan Bay, 30 miles southwest of Amoy. One gunboat was left shrouded in heavy smoke.

The rubbed Red port of Amoy itself was hit by flights of light B25 bombers with what the communiqué called "excellent results."

Li Gen, Chang Yiding, army spokesman, said Red guns, and artillery on the Nationalist island of Quencyou, Wednesday night engaged in the heaviest exchange since the Little War broke out Sept. 3.

SIGNS TO WARN GI'S HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—The U.S. Army, concerned about border incidents involving its troops, has ordered signs erected along the Iron Curtain to warn soldiers they are near Communist territory. The border is poorly defined in many areas.

A headquarters spokesman said Thursday there has been no word yet as to when Communist Czechoslovakia may release two soldiers captured by its border guards last Friday. The captives are Lt. Richard H. Dries of St. Albans, Long Island, N.Y., and Pfc. George (Pak) of Austin, Tex.

POLITICS AND THE FARM BILL

By removing certain crop restrictions imposed earlier this year, Secretary of Agriculture Benson has pulled the stinger from what undoubtedly was the toughest decree the nation's farmers have heard during Benson's tenure.

Much has been made of the possible value of the new flexible price support program in reducing the nation's groaning farm surpluses. But the power to vary support price levels would be unlikely alone to have too much effect. Acreage must also be controlled.

Thus if wheat supports were lowered, acreage controls on wheat output would prevent farmers from simply increasing production to get the same total money return despite lower prices.

Benson was among those who realized, however, that this solution might be seriously limited, that it might do little to cut the general farm surplus, whatever it might do for particular crops like wheat.

For farmers barred from producing more than a given acreage of wheat would simply shift to other high-priced crops and build up excesses there.

Consequently, Benson decided to try to prevent that shift. He decreed that where a farmer was subject to acreage control on a particular crop, he would forfeit support benefits if he turned the diverted acreage over to other support or high-price cash crops.

Now Benson has largely reversed this decision, and will allow diverted acreage to be so used, with some exceptions.

The word "hardship" is employed in explaining this action. Undoubtedly many farmers would have felt severely the effects of the original restrictions. Nevertheless, the secretary must have understood this prospect when he imposed them.

What seems a more likely explanation is that even Benson, for all his tremendous courage in dealing with this most difficult problem, has had to take some account of the political realities.

Farm income has been below peak levels for many months, but the farmer still pays dearly for the things he buys. Flexible supports do not promise higher prices in the immediate future. To add severe general acreage limitations is to press the farmer as he has not been pressed in a long time.

With crucial congressional elections but a few weeks away, the Republican political high command is genuinely concerned about the farmer's voting reaction. Benson has resisted pressures of many sorts for almost two years, but the squeeze on him in this current situation surely must have been very great.

It is no discredit to him that he could not hold to this tough decision on acreage. He has made big strides during his short time in office. The country can expect that he will push forward again toward a lasting solution of our farm problems.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The public thinks of most actresses as rather brassy extroverts. Here's one who is shy—Maggie McNamara.

Actually, she's a paradox. Although she is admittedly shy, she has stood up to her studio in a manner that has amazed Hollywood.

There can be no doubt about her shyness. She talks in a soft voice and shuns any ostentation. She seems uneasy in an interview, and tried to turn the tables by asking the reporter all about his life. I asked her how she happened to go into the showy life of being an actress if she is so shy.

"I started as a model," she explained. "When you're a model, you don't have to talk. It was ideal for me."

Her photo appeared on a life magazine cover and movie offers came her way. She declined them, having never acted in her life.

Is Your Marriage Dull? Ask Yourself These Questions

Marriages don't grow dull. But husbands and wives may. Any time either or both partners in a marriage get to thinking that their life together is pretty dull it is high time for a few searching questions.

One. In the past six months have we entertained in our home anyone outside our own little "crowd"?

Two. In the past month has either of us read a book worth recommending to the other for something more than a means of killing an evening?

Three. Are we working toward any definite goal at the present time that both of us think is important?

Four. In the past year have we done anything to our home to make it more livable or more attractive?

Five. Do we have more friends than we had five years ago?

Six. When there is a last-minute chance to do something interesting, do we whiz around and get going instead of deciding that it's too much trouble or there isn't time to get ready or some other such wishy-washy excuse?

Seven. Do we follow up the gestures of friendliness and hospitality that are directed our way or simply accept invitations without returning them and then wonder why no one invites us out any more?

Eight. Do we ever surprise each other by anything we do or say?

Nine. Do we willingly let each other do things on our own part of the time, instead of thinking we are completely dependent on each other for our interests and amusements?

Ten. Do we usually have plenty to talk about at the end of the day because we know how to look on life as an adventure and how to enjoy small pleasures?

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Divided Germany will be a problem for the West and Russia for years. No wonder both sides are pulling so hard in opposite directions, with no solution in sight.

The United States and Britain have obvious reasons for wanting the West Germans rearmied in a hurry and made part of the Western defense against Russia.

The crucial time element makes them look not only to the immediate military benefit but to the uncertain future.

The difference between West Germany rearmied and unarmed, facing the Russians, is the difference between a door, locked, and a swinging door.

The Allies would have to defend West Germany against Russian attack anyway, even though the Germans were unarmed. But if they remained unarmed the task might be impossible.

Once the Germans were armed, as the French have made abundantly clear through their expressed worries, the Allies would have the problem of seeing that rearmied Germany didn't get out of bounds to become a new terror.

The Allies will meet in London next Tuesday and again in Paris in mid-October to seek the double answer of rearmied Germany and keeping her within bounds afterwards.

But time is working, and it may not be working on the side of the Allies. At this moment, under the pro-Ally and anti-Communist leadership of Chancellor Adenauer, the West Germans want to get into the Western defense alliance.

But Adenauer will not always be there, and whether he is or not, the mood of the West Germans may change if the Allies through their indecision, keep them dangling indefinitely between heaven and earth.

They are dangling now and have been since the war. The Allies have not given them the right to rearm nor permitted them independence. American, British, and French troops occupy the country.

The three powers keep a veto over Adenauer's government.

But the Germans have made an astonishing recovery from the war and are growing in strength. They can't be expected to remain in a second-rate position forever.

It was thought that under the European Defense Community, calling for a single army, the Germans couldn't menace their neighbors again since they would be serving with troops of other nations under a unified command.

For various reasons the French killed EDC. There was a wide gap in the hope that EDC could positively prevent revival of a German national army.

Adenauer's West German government could agree to submerging its armed forces in a single European army. But the time might come when Russia would release its hold on East Germany and let it be united with the Western half.

If then a new, all German government was created would it abide, or feel obliged to abide, by the agreement made by the old West German government? Or would it withdraw and set up its own, new national army?

The Allies face that problem in any plan they work out for rearmied West Germany now. But bringing it into the Western Alliance now would give them some hope for believing a new German government would stay in.

The Russians have been doing their best to persuade the West Germans they would lose all hope for a reunified Germany if they join up with the West. The Germans are in the middle of this power-pull. If the West Germans turn neutralist in the hope of getting Russia to yield up East Germany and if Russia ever does, then...

The united Germany could dictate the future of Europe, and perhaps the world, by making an alliance with the West or Russia.

The assembly staff guffawed, knowing how hard it is to get to see the boss, when a bureaucratic geist bogged down on his job.

Perhaps I shouldn't have said that," added Mr. Mintener.

Then they really did laugh.

The new Social Security commissioner, Charles Irwin Schottland, called his staff together after he was sworn in, to find out what they did and who was responsible for what.

"I'm already receiving numerous requests to make speeches," said the new commissioner, "and there will be some I'll have to do. Who digs up the basic material for the text of my speeches?"

The staff laughed.

Mr. Schottland looked up a little surprised, not seeing the joke.

"You must know," one of the staff explained with a big grin, "that this Administration doesn't hire any ghost writers for speeches. You're supposed to write your own."

Mrs. George Humphrey brought back from her vacation at home near Cleveland, Ohio, a new story on her Secretary of the Treasury husband. Mr. Humphrey had always made a point of being on friendly terms with the children of his executive in the M.A. Hanna Co., of which he was president. One of these executives told Mrs. Humphrey that his son had come home one evening, saying that he had been out playing "Humphrey."

"You mean Mr. Humphrey, don't you?" corrected the father. "No, the boy said he meant just 'Humphrey.'"

"How do you play that?" asked his pop.

Undersecretary of Labor Arthur Larson was scheduled to make a speech at an open-air celebration in Illinois not long ago. Five minutes before he was to begin talking, a violent windstorm blew down the stands and wrecked the proceedings. His next speech, in Boston, was delivered on the day the hurricane hit.

Erna Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, emphasized the fact that the cooperative movement in America is no longer on trial with this story:

A hurried American businessman was making a tour of Europe. One day he visited the Louvre in Paris, glanced quickly at all the art treasures there and dismissed them with a shrug. As he was leaving an old guard at the door heard the American say: "There's nothing really worth while here."

Bed Rest Recommended For
Whooping Cough Victims

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

With opening of the schools the risk of whooping cough rises rapidly. A single child with whooping cough entering school can spread the disease to most of the rest.

Children from one to 10 years old are most likely to be attacked, but older children, adults and infants under six weeks old can catch it. In infants and old people it is particularly serious. Vomiting often accompanies whooping cough and when tiny children get the disease they may become starved and thin simply because they are not getting enough food.

The time between exposure and appearance of symptoms varies from four to 20 days, but is usually about 10. At first the symptoms seem like an ordinary cold, with slight fever, running nose, watering eyes, and slight cough.

After a week or 10 days the cough begins to become worse and the typical paroxysms set in. The fit of coughing usually begins with a series of 15 to 20 forced short coughs without any breaths in between. The child may get blue in the face and then take a deep breath of air which sounds like a whoop.

Several fits of coughing may come one after the other until a small amount of sticky mucus is coughed up which may bring temporary relief. When vomiting occurs, it usually comes at the end of the whoop.

Whooping cough carries some danger to life particularly in infants and old people. The coughing spells place the lungs under severe strain. Pneumonia can develop; asthma, bronchitis, and other lung complications are fairly common.

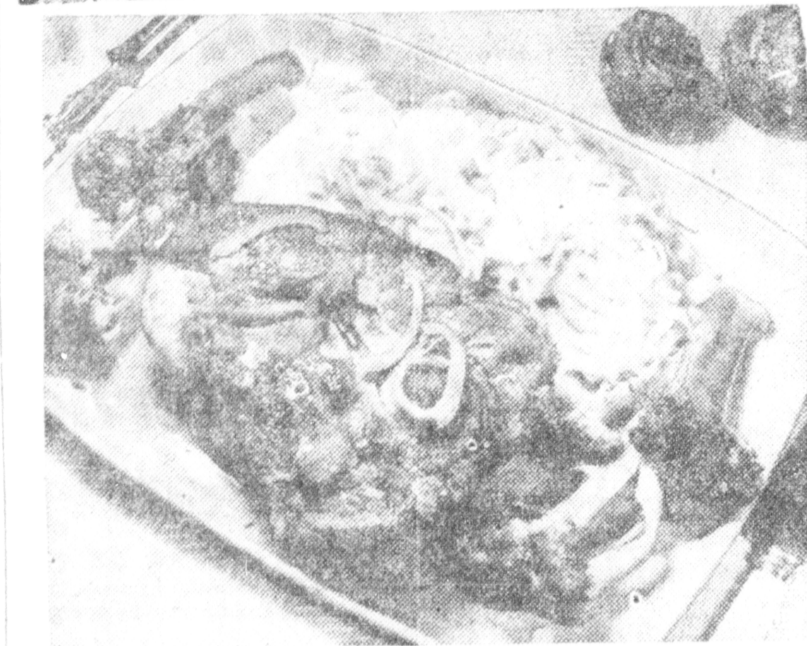

The whooping cough patient should be kept away from others who might become infected. Rest in bed, good nursing care, and special attention to the nutrition, especially if there is vomiting, is necessary. Most doctors believe that the vaccine against whooping cough will give active immunity and protection to children. It is usually best to begin these injections before the child is six months old or at least not later.

Those of us who have had whooping cough can usually remember the unpleasant episodes even if it occurred quite early in childhood.

Said the court: "Many foods cannot be eaten in the state in which they are bought. One could not expect to recover x x x for the distressing effects which would follow eating pineapples without peeling them." — of a "artually cooked chicken which had not been drawn"

NEW YORK (AP)—When Ike and Mike Katz opened a new super drugstore in Memphis recently, they sold $6,000 worth of parakeets in three days.

They also sold a pet skunk, a monkey, a number of goldfish, $4,100 worth of nylon stockings, and 40 alligators.

They may seem odd items for a drugstore to stock, but they aren't at all unusual for the two Katz brothers. Ike, now 75, and Mike, 67, long have been known as two of the greatest showmen in the field.

They pioneered in discovering the importance of "impulse business."

"This means that when a customer comes in a store to buy one thing," Ike explained, "he sees another thing—and buys that, too. We'll stock anything that catches the eye."

The brothers started with a fruit and candy store in Kansas City 40 years ago and took in about $18 a day. Even then Ike was selling oranges three for a dime when his competitors were charging a nickel each.

Operating on a mass-sale, cut-rate principle, the brothers built up a chain of 32 super drugstores in five states—Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Oklahoma and Tennessee—that will gross some 40 million dollars this year. Their stores stock 31,000 items, ranging from a package of gum to room air-conditioners.

"I got into the drugstore business by accident," recalled Ike. "During the World War the government put out an edict that only drugstores could stay open after six in the evening."

"At that time we were handling mostly candy, ice cream, and tobacco. But the day the edict came out I bought some drug supplies and hired a pharmacist. I didn't know for sure then whether aspirin was a headache cure or a hair tonic."

Of all the thousands of customers he waited on in his drugstores, Ike's favorite is a lady who returned a watch and wanted her money back.

"What's wrong with the watch?" he asked.

"Nothing," she said. "When I bought it, my husband was sick and I needed a watch so I could give him his medicine at the right time. But he's well now, and I don't need it anymore."

Charles Curtis, one-time vice president of the United States, was a descendant of Indian chiefs in the Osage and Kaw tribes.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at Bomke Hardware Co.

1st Presbyterian Rally Day Sunday

Rally Day in First Presbyterian church Sunday, Sept. 26, is marked by two special events, an all-school assembly during the Sunday school hour to view the motion picture "A Certain Nobleman," and the recognition of Sunday school teachers at the 11:00 o'clock service. W. O. Randall, chairman of the church's Committee on Christian Nurture and Fellowship, will pay tribute, during the church worship service, to the work of the Sunday school teaching staff. Mrs. F. F. McCarthy, assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, will preside at the all-school assembly, with the motion picture, "A Certain Nobleman," introducing the theme of the next year's church school study, "The Lord of Christian Faith and Life." All classes this year will be studying some phase of the life of Christ or of the meaning of his life or present day Christians. Rally Day observances begin for each department at 9:50 a. m. in the individual classrooms. Each class is striving for a record attendance. It is the latter part of the church school hour which will be spent in the assembly program.

Council Special Teachers Enjoy Mock TV Panel

A TV show featuring a "panel of experts" headlined the entertainment at this season's first meeting of the South Central Chapter of the International Council for Exceptional Children, held Wednesday night at Nichols park.

During the early part of the evening the members and their guests enjoyed a winner roast. This was followed by the meeting, held in the pavilion.

After conducting the short business meeting, President Jack Harrison introduced Miss Hazel Bothwell, who was in charge of the program.

Miss Bothwell and her assistants gathered their panel, which consisted of Miss Josephine Milligan, Mrs. Dorothy Kaufmann, Miss Mary Corlett, Miss Zoe Marshall, Robert Alexander and Mr. Hartung. While Mrs. Virginia Gray identified the object for the audience, the panel of experts was allowed to inspect the box holding the object to be guessed. Ralph Heiss acted as "Answer Man" as the panel directed their questions to him. The humorous objects presented for identification were all of local interest and significance to the club.

The next meeting will be held at Lincoln school on Oct. 27. Announcement of the program for this meeting will be made at a later date. Anyone interested in the welfare of exceptional children is invited to attend and join.

CUT FENCING COSTS with pressure-treated Casswood

Pressure-treated Penta posts last 4-5 times longer than untreated posts—up to 30 years or more! With Casswood Penta posts on your farm, much of the money you spend for fence maintenance and replacement can stay right in your pocket.

Casswood Industries at Beardstown takes top quality Southern yellow pine posts... machine-peels them for a smooth, attractive finish... then forces Penta throughout the wood by five hours of extreme heat and pressure in their huge processing cylinder. Each post has years of protection against rot, termites and other insects. And, unlike crosote, Penta is clean, safe to handle and is a uniform chemical compound always at full strength.

Drive In and Save On Freight! Pick up Casswood Penta posts at the source near Beardstown and pay these low prices for orders totaling $100 or more: (Additional discount allowed on orders totaling $500 or more.)

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (P)—Treasury bonds lost fractions Thursday as the government accepted orders for its new 1% per cent short-term note. Corporate obligations climbed irregularly.

For the fourth successive session U. S. government bonds were unchanged to lower. Dealers said over the counter trading was moderate. But the pressure of four billion dollars of new notes had a depressing effect on the market, they added.

Meanwhile, slower trading in the corporate list reduced "big board" volume to $3,170,000 par value from $3,520,000 Wednesday. Utilities and industrials were steady to higher, but most railroads declined. Some convertible obligations were strong.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (P)—The stock market advanced for the third session into new high ground Thursday, but it ran into some mild selling difficulties along the way.

Oils were exceptionally strong. Some wide gains were scored. Most of the advance ended between 1 and 2 points. Losses seldom went over a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 50 cents at $136.30, another 25-year peak. The market on Friday hit a new top since 1929 after spending a month in a reaction and a quick recovery. Monday showed a loss, but for the next three sessions the market went to new peaks. Thursday's average was the best since Oct. 18, 1929, when it stood at $138.80.

The steels and airlines gave the oil's early assistance, but the steels faltered and ended mixed. Airline held to modest gains.

Coppers were lower, railroads were higher on balance, and the remainder of the list was mixed to steady.

The market was notable for the strength of individual issues, a strength that resulted from highly selective buying and corporate developments.

Outstanding in that class was Standard Oil (Indiana).

It gained 5 1/4 Wednesday and 5 1/4 Thursday at 95 1/4. Near the close, directors declared a 100 per cent stock dividend and the regular 6 1/2 cents cash dividend.

The American Stock Exchange was firm on a high volume of 890,000 shares. That compares with 870,000 shares traded Wednesday.

ALL GRAINS LOSE ON SLOW MARKET

By WILLIAM FERRIS
CHICAGO (P)—All grains lost minor ground in a dull and dreary trade on the Board of Trade Thursday. The market opened lower and stayed there through to the close.

There was a little recovery in the final minutes but it wasn't enough to put prices back above the previous close. In no cases were losses large although soybeans sank several cents at one time.

Wheat closed 1 1/2 lower, corn 3/4 lower, oats 1 1/2 lower, rye 1 1/2 lower, soybeans 1 1/2-2 1/4 lower and lard 12 to 30 cents a hundred pounds lower.

Cash soybean receipts were a little larger than Wednesday, totaling 258 cars, and ideal weather prevailed over the main belt for harvesting the new crop. These were the main reasons for selling beans as cash bean oil and bean meal showed no weakness.

A general lack of bullish enthusiasm existed in corn, as has been the case for several weeks. A large quantity of grain, totaling 160,000 bushels, was purchased on a to-arrive basis from the country. Cash corn eased with new crop No. 2 yellow selling at $1.55 1/2.

Oats were down with corn and there was no particular feature in the market. Cash oats were quoted steady. Rye fell in sympathy with a break at Winnipeg, where prices dropped around 4 cents at one time. On a late rally rye came back about 2 cents at Chicago from the day's loss.

Wheat continued to be a real disappointment to the bulls. Lack of exports, and with a very limited flour demand, prices retreated under very light selling pressure. Some of this represented hedging and some came from tired bulls.

One factor in wheat's easiness, grain men said, was the weak tone of red wheat in cash markets east of Chicago. Prices there are selling well under the price of the Chicago December future and there are rumors some red wheat is being moved from Ohio and Indiana to Chicago.

Despite wheat's current weakness, most of the large commission houses appeared to be quite bullish on it for the long term. Typical was the comment of Francis I. du Pont & Co., which said: "We remain of the opinion wheat may get some further set-backs but will ultimately work higher."

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (P)—Hog prices declined Thursday, butchers selling off 25 to 35 cents while sows were steady to 25 cents lower. Top was $19.75, equal to the low top for the year set Monday.

Most choice 190 to 280 pound butchers sold at $19.25 to $19.50 with a few loads and lots of butchers weighing 230 pounds and more $19.60 to $19.75. Offerings scaling 160 to 185 pounds moved at $17.75 to $19.25. Sows sold for $15.75 to $19.25.

Steers and heifers held steady, steers topping at $26.25 although a few prime calf cut yearlings went at $27.00 to $28.00. Good to average choice steers and yearlings brought $20.50 to $25.25 with good to choice heifers $19.00 to $23.50. Salable receipts totaled 2,500.

Cows were steady to 50 cents lower at $8.50 to $14.00 for utility and commercial and $6.00 to $9.50 for canners and cutters. A few light canners sold down to $5.00. Vealers were steady to $1.00 lower. A few choice and prime sold at $22.00 to $23.00 but most good and choice were $17.00 to $22.00.

Doctor Deplores Predictions Of Ill Effects Of Bomb Blasts

HOUSTON, Texas (P)—Dr. John C. Bugher, chief of the Atomic Energy Commission Medical division, said Thursday there have been too many "reckless and uncritical" predictions on what radiation from A-bomb and H-bomb explosions will do to heredity.

For example, he said, "we have dire predictions of many monsters and even the obliteration of mankind itself from radiation exposures." He called this a distortion of emphasis.

However, in reference to immediate or relatively early effects of a bomb burst, Dr. Bugher said a sufficient amount of radiation from a bomb burst itself could be fatal and that under certain conditions a "highly radioactive fallout" of wind-carried materials "may be lethal following an exposure of only a few hours."

The text of his speech, prepared for an industrial health conference, was released prior to the announcement from Tokyo that death had taken a Japanese fisherman dusted by radioactive ash 80 miles from the U. S. H-bomb blast at Bikini on March 1.

In a speech, Bugher said the United States has H-bombs having "millions of tons" of TNT explosive equivalent—and that an H-bomb of only one million ton TNT equivalent would have the explosive power of a 20-mile-long line of ships each containing 2,000 tons of high explosives. It was such a single ship, he said, whose explosion in a harbor devastated the city of Halifax during World War I.

Saying it is known that radiation has a potential for causing damaging genetic effects in man, but that there is as yet no clear evidence as to whether any significant number of such mutations can be expected throughout the world as a result of atomic energy activities Dr. Bugher declared:

"This genetic problem, which is one of the fundamental aspects of the adjustment of man to the world of the future, is sometimes thrown into confusion by reckless and uncritical pronouncements based upon assumptions which go far beyond our knowledge."

"We have dire predictions of many monsters and even the obliteration of mankind itself from radiation exposures which are only a small fraction of that from cosmic radiation, from the radium and radon of the soil and air, and from the naturally radioactive potassium of which we are all partially composed."

Such distortions of emphasis are comparable to contending that meteors from outer space are a major threat to safety on our highways and threaten the survival of all motorists.

"It is most essential that we keep our perspective in such matters and base our generalizations on substantial evidence."

Dr. Bugher did not specify who had made the pronouncements he called reckless.

'We Have Delivered On 52 Campaign Promises'

He added at McNary that "The administration in Washington—and the present leadership in Congress—are unalterably opposed to such malignant growth of bureaucracy."

His speech there amounted to a spirited defense of administration policy calling for more local participation in development of the nation's power resources. He said, however, that construction of such huge, expensive projects as McNary Dam on the Columbia River is a proper assignment for the federal government.

And he pledged that more such projects "will be started."

Eisenhower took off for Los Angeles from Pendleton, Ore., and he told an airport audience there that "The kind of America we have dreamed about from babyhood, we can have if we want it, and do not let ourselves be led astray by false promises and glittering generalities."

It was at the Hollywood Bowl Thursday night that the President first shed the velvet campaign gloves he has been wearing and talked in a manner reminiscent of the 1952 campaign. And as he did at that time, he appealed for support of his administration "regardless of party"—an appeal to political Independents and disgruntled Democrats to join Republicans in the Eisenhower drive for another GOP Congress.

Anti-Segregation Pamphlets Strewn Throughout Town

WILMINGTON, Del. (P)—Hundreds of anti-segregation pamphlets have been distributed in the current row about Negroes attending Wilmington township schools with whites.

Mayor Edward C. Evans said the pamphlets were signed by "Bryan Bowles," who is not further identified. Printed on both sides of a single 9 by 12 sheet of paper, the pamphlet text carries the headline:

"The text in part reads:

"(Bowles) have just returned from a tour of the southern states to check newspaper reports on Southern reaction to the U. S. Supreme Court's 'Black Monday.'"

"I found 99 per cent of the black and white people opposed to mixing their children."

"I found people who threatened to dynamite the schools if this goes through."

The pamphlet also contains a cartoon showing a Negro walking through a cottonfield with a fishing pole on his shoulder. The caption underneath reads: "In a ramblur wreck from Georgia Tech and a Supreme Court engineer."

Suspended Officer Borrows Gun, Kills Robber In Gunfight

CHICAGO (P)—A policeman who had been suspended from the force borrowed a revolver Thursday and killed a robber in a gun battle.

The officer, Jack Hastings, 43, was wounded in the right hip during the exchange of bullets.

While Hastings was walking along a South Side street he heard a buzzing noise. He stepped into a saloon, asked about the sound and was told it was an alarm from a clothing shop next door.

Hastings borrowed a gun from the tavernkeeper and hurried out. He encountered a robber, an unidentified Negro, emerging from the store with an armload of stolen clothing.

The gun battle ensued, and ended with the robber dead in the street.

When notified of Hastings' action, Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor ordered the officer restored to duty.

Hastings was suspended Wednesday because he failed to report for duty, without notifying his station, after a sick leave. It was brought out that Hastings had been called out of town because of the death of a brother.

STRIKE CALLED AT SANGAMO ELECTRIC

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (P)—The executive committee of the Selco Union (Ind.) called a strike at the Sangamo Electric Co. plant in Springfield effective at 11 p.m. Thursday night.

About 1,600 of the 2,100 employees at the plant belong to the union. A vote of 1,163 to 308 was cast Wednesday in favor of the strike, the union said.

The company makes electric and water pumps and precision instruments.

John Fancher, president of the union said the strike was ordered after a three hour negotiation session with Sangamon officials Thursday afternoon failed to bring an agreement involving work loads and pay rates governed in the current contract.

W. G. Dorsett, director of industrial relations for the company, said that the strike is in violation of the union's contract with the firm. He said the plant will continue to operate and urged employees to report for work as usual.

In Washington, D. C., the National Labor Relations Board ordered an election among employees to determine bargaining agent. The board ordered the election to take place within 30 days and for employees to choose between Selco, the AFL International Assn. of Machinists, the CIO International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, or none.

Reapportionment Given Boost At Conference Here

Plans for an educational program in connection with the reapportionment amendment to be voted on in the November 2 election were discussed at a committee meeting in the Dunlap hotel Tuesday. The meeting was presided over by F. R. Rantz, chairman for Morgan county, and was attended by 30 community leaders.

State Representative Hugh Green spoke to the group and told of the many difficulties that had been encountered in the Legislature to finally bring the proposition to the voters. He stated that the proposal was patterned after the National plan, and that if adopted that downstate would always have a majority of the Illinois Senate, and that representation in the House would be determined on a population basis. Rep. Green labeled the plan as "fair and reasonable."

An information sound slide film entitled "Let Your Voice Be Heard" was shown to the group and acquainted as an accurate and clear explanation of the reapportionment proposal. This film is available for showing to local groups from now until Nov. 2, and may be reserved by contacting Mrs. Clarence Eggenberger or Karl Baker who are serving as members of the publicity committee.

The amendment has the backing of many state organizations, as well as their local representatives. To date, 12 local groups have requested that the film be shown at one of their meetings.

"Epidemic Not Food Poisoning"—Chapman

An epidemic which has been cutting into school attendance in Jacksonville and other sections of the county this week is not food poisoning, but is "an infectious affair that is passed from person to person," Dr. James W. Chapman, Morgan county health officer, said Thursday afternoon.

The health officer said an investigation is in progress to determine the exact nature of the epidemic, which he described as mild in character thus far, although the victims suffer from fever, nausea, headache, and diarrhea. Most of the victims are again after a couple of days, Dr. Chapman said.

Commenting on rumors that the illness was caused by food poisoning, and may have been contracted in school cafeterias, Dr. Chapman asserted:

"This epidemic is not food poisoning. It doesn't act at all like food poisoning. The consensus of physicians that I've talked to is that it's an infection which can be passed around in a family, or to others."

The health officer said school attendance in Jacksonville, in both high school and grades, began to drop Monday and continued several days, but that epidemic victims are now coming back. He said the same situation exists at Waverly and in other places.

In a number of instances students have gone home with illness and others in the family have contracted it. This eliminates the theory of food poisoning, Chapman asserted.

Value Of Bequest To MacMurray Set At $500,000

MacMurray College will receive approximately $500,000 for general endowment from the estate of Mrs. Mary H. Blackstock of Springfield, since 1917 a trustee of the college.

This announcement was made to the students and faculty by Dr. Louis W. Norris, president, at the first convocation of the year Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Annie Merner Chapel.

Mrs. Blackstock, who was a trustee of not only MacMurray, but also of Illinois Wesleyan and DePaul Universities, died August 21 at the age of 85. She was preceded in death by her husband, Ira Burton Blackstock, who operated the Pure Ice and Cold Storage Company in Springfield and was active in the construction of several railroads.

Mrs. Blackstock's first gift to MacMurray was in 1901 when she gave $5,000 to endow a scholarship. In 1916 she gave $50,000 for the construction of the Hardner Gymnasium, which included the cost of the swimming pool. For an extension of the pool in 1936, Mrs. Blackstock donated $10,000 and in 1949 gave $30,000 for pews in Annie Merner Chapel. In addition for a number of years she anonymously paid all expenses for a student to attend MacMurray College each year taking each student through to her graduation.

Income Available First
For a period of three years, only the income from the $500,000 is available to MacMurray. During the balance of the present fiscal year, this will amount to approximately $10,000. The funds consist of investments in high grade securities, in real estate located in Springfield, and in farming land in Kansas.

According to a statement from Dr. Norris, the bequest from Mrs. Blackstock is especially valuable at this time. The income will help greatly in supporting the college program while restrictions on a sizeable portion of the college endowment are in force.

This bequest brings the general endowment of MacMurray up to well over four and a half million dollars.

Regular Air Service To Chicago, Peoria To Begin On Oct. 1

Regularly scheduled airline trips between Jacksonville and Chicago will be inaugurated October 1st, R. M. Byerly, president of Byerly Aviation, Inc., announced Thursday after the Illinois Commerce Commission issued an order authorizing the service.

Byerly's Lockheed Electra, a nine place aircraft, which will make the inaugural flight, will be on display Sunday at the Open House at the Jacksonville Municipal Airport north of the city, together with Beechcraft Bonanza 3-passenger planes which will also be used by the airline.

Byerly Airlines has been operating flights daily between Peoria and Chicago. The new ICC order authorizes it to extend its air passenger service to Jacksonville.

The order fixes one way fares from Jacksonville to Peoria at not to exceed $6.96 Peoria to Chicago $13.04 and Jacksonville to Chicago $20.00, all plus tax. Round trip fares between Jacksonville and Peoria are to be $11.50 and between Jacksonville and Chicago $32.50, plus tax. Children 12 years of age and under may travel at half fare.

Initially Byerly Airlines proposes only one flight each way between Jacksonville and Chicago. The northbound flight will leave Jacksonville Municipal Airport at 6:45 a. m., arriving at Midway Airport at the American Airlines gate in Chicago at 8:30 a. m. The same plane will leave Chicago on the return trip at 9:00 a. m., arriving in Jacksonville at 10:45 a. m.

May Add Evening Flight
An additional evening flight will be added, Byerly said, if the air traffic justifies the need for it. The I. C. C. order authorized Byerly Airlines to route Jacksonville-Chicago planes through either Galesburg or Bloomington rather than Peoria. The present plan of the airline, however, calls for service only through Peoria.

The Byerly firm recently entered into a management contract with the Board of Commissioners of the Jacksonville Airport Authority. The terms of this agreement provided that service to Chicago be commenced as soon as ICC approval could be secured.

W. H. Kurtz, Chairman of the Jacksonville Airport Authority, hailed the decision of the Commerce Commission as opening the way for the sound development of public air transportation to and from Jacksonville. "This growing community sorely needs good air service to offset the loss of surface transportation," Kurtz said.

Fresh-killed turkeys, ready-to-cook fryers, boneless chuck roast, and hickory-smoked hams are among the best buys available on meat counters this week in food stores across the nation.

Pork prices have climbed again in many areas, along with lamb and veal.

Beef is up in some sections of the country, down in others. Suppliers of trying, broiling, roasting, and fricasse chickens are at or near all-time highs, and prices continue to move lower.

Hints of possible government price props have given a potent lift to egg prices recently, and the upward trend was clearly discernible at the retail stage this week. In some cities large grade A whites were up as much as 10 cents a dozen from the week before. However, the Poultry and Egg National Board notes that egg prices are still about 19 cents a dozen under year-ago quotations.

Outstanding produce buys listed by marketing specialists include sweet potatoes, cabbages and peppers.

There was encouraging news this week for coffee drinkers. The roasting company executive who predicted the big mid-August coffee price break, President William Black of Chock Full O'Nuts, said Brazilian prices are meeting stiffening resistance in this country.

CARTOONIST TECHNIQUE
FORT KUSTIS, Va. (AP)—Kenneth P. Klinger was picked for the job because he had 17 years experience as a cartoonist for the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"All I had to start with was some wrapping paper, a bottle of India ink and two brushes," he recalls.

Today Lt. Col. Klinger commands a 60-man visual aids section of the Army Transportation Corps, which has turned out over 50,000 training aids such as transparent models of engines, wiring systems, charts and diagrams. They have revolutionized and speeded up the training of personnel.

Members of Congress are permitted to make changes in their speeches before they are put into the Congressional Record.

WOODSON SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASSES PLAN OUTING

At an announcement made during the morning Sunday School session at the Woodson Christian Church it was stated that the Junior and Intermediate classes would hold a "wieners roast" Friday evening, Sept. 24th, at Wilhireds Lake (Reynolds Farm). All families of the pupils are cordially invited and are asked to bring enough wieners, buns and potato chips, for themselves and their guests. Morgan-Scott Unit Of Waverly Holds Meeting

VIRGINIA — Mrs. Freeman Vaughn was hostess to the Waverly Unit of Morgan-Scott Home Bureau, Tuesday afternoon, September 21, at her new home 31 miles west of Springfield. In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Gilbert Luken and vice chairman, Mrs. James Handy, the highlights of the board note from the vice president were read by Mrs. Lester Seales. The fall meeting will be in Jacksonville Oct. 28 and reservations for the dinner must be in by Oct. 25. Mrs. Elmer Huvear gave the major lesson, "Cloth Makes the Difference in Washing and Ironing." She showed that if one knows what their cloth is made of and how it is made you will know how to wash and iron it. By burning and wetting cotton, linen, silk wool, rayon and nylon she showed how to care for the materials. She stressed reading labels on garments and material when bought, for the care in future. Mrs. Don Rawlings gave the selected subject, "Use of Pictures and Mirrors in the Home." After telling of choosing a picture, the frame and art principals in placing of pictures and mirrors she showed pictures to illustrate her points. The secretary, Miss Ruth Walters, read the minutes of July meeting and of the picnic in August and when she called the roll 11 members responded by naming fall flowers suitable for a centerpiece. They voted to meet Oct. 18, Monday, instead of Tuesday to help the home adviser attend a meeting. The hostess served cookies and hot coffee at the close of the meeting. Later all inspected the new home and grounds.

SUSPECT

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson
Copyright 1954 by Hugh Lawrence Nelson. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Private Detective Jim Dunn and his wife Nancy have been retained in the double role of detective and bodyguard of Mrs. Kit Carlson at the estate of Mrs. Oswald Carlson in Colorado. Jim is not sure what he is expected to do beyond determining that Mrs. Kit is innocent of a sudden death that might be murder on the West Coast. Mrs. Kit believes her mother-in-law, Mrs. Elton Carlson, is attempting to bring suspicion on her.

JIM DUNN kicked down what stumps he could find, loaded the jeep with dead and half-rotten logs whose chief virtue was that they gave the appearance of wood. One branch road led down to the Carlson Castle, but Jim did not travel far along it. But he did get an excellent bird's-eye view of the huge place, with its swimming pool nestling back of a slight curve of the huge separating cliff, Lion's Head. Jim estimated it was a good three miles by twisting road between the two places even though it was only a few hundred yards by water. Certainly the sheer drop of the base of Lion's Head seemed to preclude any path along the shore. On his return to The Spires, he found that Toby Argyle had delivered a load of pitch. Heavy, sticky chunks which were fragrant even in the pile by the basement door. He found, too, that Nancy was having an audience with Kit Carlson. She was on the porch, no longer wearing her veil, while Nancy, in her "dark and dowdy" outfit, stood on the lowest step. "Yes, mom," Nancy said, as Jim began to toss pieces of wood from the jeep. "Thank you for telling me about the rouge. Thank you, I'm sure." She would not meet Jim's eyes as she hurried away.

Mrs. Carlson summoned Jim readily. "I was quite mistaken about your nice little wife," she said. "I am pleased, because I take it as a sign of our good judgment. In getting the correct person for the job at hand, and I am glad to see you enter into the spirit of the thing. Pretending to gather wood." Dunn looked at the pile of stuff in the jeep. He could hardly call it wood, but he wouldn't have called the labor necessary for its gathering pretense either. He said slowly, "I think you'd better tell me what you're afraid of." "You're right, I suppose. But this doesn't seem the place to talk. I believe someone at the other house is watching us through binoculars. And—Mr. Dunn! There is someone coming. Do something about it." The front door slammed behind her.

DUNN looked around, had to walk before the corner of the house before he saw anyone, before he saw the figure walking along the boulder-strewn side of the creek which spilled from the hole in the cliff. He knew he was seen, but he also was completely disregarded, as the woman knelt on the creekbank. He stood above her, said, "You're trespassing, you know." She turned her head, glared at him from small jet-black eyes which were heavily outlined by wrinkles. He saw she was very old, had attained the age reached by so many Colorado women where they appear indestructible. She hissed at him, "Quiet, fool!" Dunn saw her arms were immersed deeply in the icy water. The expression on her face changed from malevolence to toward Jim to the thrill and excitement of the chase. She moved suddenly and a 12-inch trout flopped on the grass of the sloping bank. "There now," she said. She got stiffly to her feet, picked up the trout and did something which immediately stilled its frantic struggle. Her arms were bright purple with the cold of the water, and the knobs of her knuckles looked painful. "Heard it could be done," she gloated. "And I did it. You see, this way when you get a trout it's not damaged." "It's dead enough," Jim said. "What do you want?" she demanded. "I work here. You're trespassing, you know." "Hah. You going to make something of it?" "I suppose," Jim said thoughtfully, "I could turn you over my knee and give you a spanking." She glared at him a moment and then her mouth opened to emit a cackle. Her old-fashioned false teeth slipped and moved with the sound. She said, "You and who else?" Jim asked. She waved the limp trout toward the other side of the lake. "What are you going to do with the trout now you have it?" "Stuff it!" she snapped.

AT first, Jim thought the words were a suggestion or a command. He had a second thought and asked, "You're a taxidermist?" She was no longer looking at him, but over his shoulder. "Ready now, Philip," she said. "Jim turned around. The smiling man, Philip, completely outfitted in a chauffeur's uniform and shiny boots stood a few paces away. Beyond, looking immense on the narrow road, a limousine sat gleaming in the sunlight. Philip looked at Jim as if he were one of the things Dunn had found earlier under rotten logs. "Is this person annoying you, Mrs. Oswald?" She handed Philip the limp fish. "How could he?" she wanted to know as she was helped into the car. (To Be Continued)

TWO-WAY COW—There's an old tradition that cows MUST be milked only from the right side. Otherwise, the milker is liable to get a hefty hoof in the chin. But here's a complacent cow that just doesn't give a darn. It's owned by Dan Kauth, of Tresscott, Kan., who is now with the U. S. Army in Germany. "Maggie" was trained to be an ambidextrous milker this summer. Here, Judy and Jerry Kauth are seen doubling up on the milking chores.
